

Israel in the Wilderness: Who Am I?

Divide the class into two teams. In turn, give each team the first clue on a card (see below). Proceed giving more clues until the team correctly identifies the answer. The team gets the number of points associated with the last clue they received before getting the answer. E.g., if the team gets the answer after the second clue, they get 8 points. Once the a team has completed their turn, play switches to the other team. Each team gets the same number of turns. The team with the most points wins.
